Potential Extension of Eastern European Coverage

With a broadening of the Cairo linguist staff and improvement in technical facilities, coverage of Eastern European transmitters can be extended considerably to yield additional material not now available. At least partial coverage of the services listed below can be expected.

A listening post located in Greece, however, would probably provide fuller and more reliable coverage of these transmitters, and might be expected to discover and monitor some Soviet regional services at present unknown. All the services listed below should be better monitorable from Greece than from Cairo.
